This ink was produced in accordance to the current regulations (ResAP(2008)1 & German Tattoo Ink Regulation). All Ingredients of these inks were tested regarding to their purity and toxicological impurities based on the current regulations.

It is possible that allergic and toxicological reaction may occur after tattooing. Every individual human can have a different reaction with the ingredients.

Before using the ink it should be tested according to its skin compatibility.

Thus, a patch-test is the easiest way to check the compatibility as it is described in the following steps:

1. A small skin area at the inner part of the forearm must be cleaned with soap & water and dried smoothly
2. Applying a small amount of the tattoo ink onto the skin area and waiting until it is dry
3. Waiting 24 hours und cleaning the skin area with soap & water
4. If there are no Skin irritations or inflammatory reaction, the ink maybe is compatible with your skin

The result of this test is no guaranty that any risk of irritation, inflammatory, toxicological or allergic reaction can be predicted. This risk exists after every tattoo.

If you have any further questions or concerns, please contact your dermatologist.

General product advisories:

- Store the bottle at a cool, dry and dark place
- Keep the bottle away from direct sun light exposure
- Do not use the ink after the expiry date
- The ink should not be used 12 months after opening
- After every tattoo it is possible that allergic and toxicological reaction may occur
- Please dispose the bottle after use according to the current ecological requirements
